Penang

Penang, "The Pearl of the Orient" lies off the northwestern coast of Peninsular Malaysia. The tropical island of Penang covers an area of about 285 sq km., the island is linked to the mainland by the Penang Bridge and a cross-channel ferry service. It's population of more than 1 million represents a happy mix of the major races found in Malaysia.

Penang's climate can be described as equatorial, a pleasant mix of warm, sunny days and occasional cooling rain storms, with August through November being the wettest months generally.

Penang is rich in culture. With its multi-ethnic society, Penang sees a kaleidoscope of festivals and celebrations which seem to last the whole year round. Aside from Islam, Buddhism, Taoism, Hindu and Christianity are prominent. There could be no other place in the country that can dish up so many attractions within a small area.

Penang has everything – beautiful golden beaches with swaying palm trees, the lush green tropical rainforests of Penang Hill, the World heritage city of Georgetown as well as a developed and impressive modern hi-tech industrial area. More information can be found at www.penangpage.com.
